AIX-EN-PROVENCE

Joshua Tree Issue

Bonjour,

At Les Jardins, we raise the standard of luxury while lowering our carbon impact. Our commitment lies in preserving the environment by reducing our carbon footprint for future generations.

Adapting for a breath of fresh air

Ever since implementing a partially remote workforce, our employees save roughly 6,000 hours of transit time. Los Angeles renders one's commute to the office a tedious and toxic venture, leaving our staff idling in traffic at 30 miles per hour at best. Hence, saving 180,000 miles of unneeded combustion! Alexa, our reliable know-it-all, informs us that the average vehicle emits 404 grams of CO² per mile. With this information in-hand, we can proudly affirm the avoidance of 72.7 metric tons of CO² being released into the atmosphere.

Let's embark on preserving bark

Our updated catalog is optimized through new technology. A seamlessly interactive display on our two primary sites, www.lesjardins.us and www.lesjardins.solar, both accessible through QR codes. Our digital progress has allowed us to embrace a greener approach, reducing paper consumption while enhancing visual appeal and giving us the opportunity to show as many products as possible.

Recyclable packaging that saves time and our planet

This year, we can proudly announce a new packaging alternative for our latest 2.0 Solar Lamps. We now ship using a 100% recyclable base, eliminating the use of styrofoam and wraps. Our lights are delivered with equal safety and functionality, all while adopting the exclusive use of paper and cardboard.

A small but significant change saving thousands of lives

Last but certainly not least, our latest solar bulb: YKARY (Phonetically spelling "light" in Japanese – accompanied with an Icarus connotation... properly suited for a solar product). Les Jardins offers two "temperatures" of lighting, effortlessly illuminating any space to fit one's preferences. Amber tone: 1800K and the subtly more uplifting Warm White: 2700K. These gradients serve more than the purpose of brightening one's yard. For instance, our Amber tone has earned substantial praise in coastal regions such as Hawaii and Florida for saving of sea turtles... Sea Turtles can confuse white lighting for stars and head toward dangerous areas instead of the sea. However, they cannot see Amber light by the coast, allowing them to instinctively head towards the ocean upon hatching instead of towards the white street lights.

That is Les Jardins' mission! Improve one's outdoor experience both visually and environmentally, one step at a time.
